A dog suspected of being afflicted with rabies was shot and killed in the north part of town Thursday. As the animal was shot in the head and its brain demolished, there was no possible means of determining of a certainty whether or not it was really affected. In this connection, our County Physician, Dr. W. H. Smith, asks us to say that in the event an animal is suspected of having rabies and it is killed, pains should be taken to shoot it through the body and remove the head in such a manner as not to injure the brain. The doctors at the State Pasteur Institute must have the whole head to make an accurate diagnosis.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Merriman and baby went to San Antonio Monday. Mr. Merriman returned the same day but Mrs. Merriman and the baby are spending the week in the city visiting relatives.

Frank Brucks was operated on for appendicitis last Friday. He passed through the ordeal successfully and is recovering nicely. He is at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Hurt.

FOUND.—A purse containing change and memorandums. Evidently lost by children sent to a store. Owner can learn of same by paying for this notice. 331t.

The little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Neuman, who was recently operated on for appendicitis, has sufficiently recovered to be removed to her home.

Clark's Greater Shows, a Carnival Company that has wintered here, will begin a week's carnival here next Monday, March 13th.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Ney were over from D'Hanis Wednesday visiting their daughter, Mrs. Charlie Schuehle and family.

CHATAUQUA COMING.

Chas. A. Horr, advance man of the Radcliff Chatauqua Company, was here this week and made the preliminary arrangements for the appearance of the Chatauqua March 21, 22 and 23.

At a preliminary meeting of the guarantors of the enterprise, held at the State Bank Wednesday afternoon, the Hondo Chatauqua Association was formed by electing Prof. W. N. Saathoff chairman and J. M. Finger secretary and treasurer. They will be assisted by the following chairmen and their helpers of the following committees: Chairman Ticket Committee, Prof. J. D. Howell, Chairman Tent Committee, Sid Carter, Chairman Seats and Stage, R. J. Reiley, Chairman Light Committee, A. G. Walker, Chairman Piano Committee, E. R. Leinweber, Chairman Advertising Committee, Fletcher Davis, Chairman Junior Work, Prof. J. D. Howell.

The programs will begin at 2:30 p. m. and 8:00 p. m. each day. See the program printed elsewhere in this paper.

It was decided that all school children, regardless of age, should be entitled to a child's ticket at the child's price. The sale of tickets is in the hands of the ladies of the Parent-Teacher Association, and any profits that may accrue from the Chatauqua will go to that Association.

John Henry Meyer did not attend an Irish wake, even though his appearance might lead one to such a supposition. John Henry was engaged in the manly game of baseball. Evidently he had his eye on the ball, for it hit him square in that member, somewhat disfiguring the optic. We are glad to state that his father, Dr. Meyer, does not think John Henry's sight will be in the least impaired, his beauty temporarily only being the most serious result of the mishap, and he will soon be able to take his place on the diamond again.

Among the freight shipments handled at the local freight office this week were three cars of corn, one car of shucks, three cars of hay and one car of hogs, outgoing. The incoming cars were one of cattle dip, two of show outfit, one of coal and one of flour. There will be shipped out today, three cars of cattle and one of hogs. The volume of freight regularly handled here would indicate that business is not so dead as many hard-times complainers would have one believe.

THE FRIO CANYON STATE PARK.

During the last session of the State Legislature great interest was taken in the movement to establish a State Park or a series of Parks, where the wonderful native beauty of the various parts of Texas could be preserved for posterity. Also to provide a place of recreation for the wearied people where they could retire from the noisy crowds and enjoy the quiet and solitude that can only be found in places of this type. They also realized that Texas was far behind the various states in the work of this type and realizing that the advancement of civilization was fast destroying our gorgeous scenic beauty spots and turning them to commercial use, they appointed a special committee to investigate the various sites mentioned and to report to the next session of the Legislature. In September 1921, the committee visited these sites and all were eliminated from consideration except two, one in the Davis Mountains and the other in the Frio Canyon.

People who have studied the various sites believe the proposed site in the Frio Canyon is unsurpassed in the entire southern part of the United States. Its elevation of 2500 feet makes it cool enough in the summer and its abundance of water is unequalled in the state. The highway facilities are excellent and the wonderful native growth of pecan, oak and other trees makes it a delightful camping site.

The Frio Canyon is within easy reach of the great majority of the population of Texas. It is several hundred miles closer to the center of population of Texas than any other site offered. One prominent member of the Legislative Committee in speaking of the Frio Canyon said: "It was a fitting climax to the wonderful views we have seen and it far surpasses anything we have seen." Considerable interest in the Frio Canyon is being manifested throughout the entire state as its reputation spreads.

Chambers of Commerce, Sporting Clubs and prominent people from every section of the state are writing for information and an Association has been organized for the purpose of advertising the Frio Canyon and anyone can secure further information by applying to the secretary of the local Chamber of Commerce or writing Mr. J. Raphael Riley, Chamber of Commerce, San Antonio, Texas.

HIAWATHA SKINNED A SQUIRREL.

From The Huajillo Leaf. Hiawatha skinned a squirrel, just sat down and went and skinned it.

Went and skinned it to a finish. From its skin he made some mittens, Made them with the outside inside, Made them with the inside outside, Made them with the fur side inside, Made them with the skin side outside, Made them with the warm side inside, Made them with the cold side outside. Had he placed the fur side outside, Had he placed the skin side inside, Had he placed the outside outside, And the inside inside, Then the warm side would be outside And the cold side inside. So, to get the fur side, warm side, inside, Placed the skin side, cold side, outside.

Now you know why Hiawatha Placed the outside, fur side, warm side, inside, And the inside, skin side, cold side, outside.

FLETCHERIZED FARM FACTS

By Fletcher Davis.

ONE MAN'S SUCCESS WITH PINTO BEANS.

Fletcher Davis, in The Semi-Weekly Farm News, March 3, 1922.

Sometimes the "side-line" beats the "main chance"—when the farmer knows how to handle the side line.

Last year was a good corn year in Medina county, and the corn crop grown by Tom J. Bendele was no exception to the average run of Medina county crops in 1921. But Mr. Bendele claims to have made more clear money on five acres of fall-planted pinto beans than he made from his seventy-acre, carefully tended corn crop. Be it said in fairness, however, that the corn market sagged fearfully about harvest time. But here is what Mr. Bendele did with his beans:

Planted Sept. 14.

He planted his five acres of pintos about Sept. 14, immediately following good rains earlier in the month. By Oct. 20 he was picking and selling green beans. He peddled and sold his beans at 10c per quart or three quarts for 25c. By Nov. 19 he had picked over the five acres three times and sold 2,700 pounds of green beans. At the third picking he picked only about one-third of the field, picking 150 pounds of green beans, which he sold. He allowed the other two-thirds of the field to mature its crop and from it he harvested 200 pounds of dried beans, which he kept for his own use.

Frost Interferes.

He would have secured a fourth picking from part of his field—the one-third harvested green at the third picking—had frost remained away only a few days longer. A nice, warm rain had started them to blooming nicely, but the frost nipped them before the pods were sufficiently developed to be ready for market.

A late fall in 1910 enabled Mr. Bendele to sell green snap beans three days before Christmas, but killing frost came earlier last fall.

A Drouthy Period.

Mr. Bendele's land is a rich, black sandy loam soil, rather heavy. He harvested an oat crop from the land in May. In June this oat stubble was bedded with a middle-buster in preparation for maize. But before the maize crop could be seeded it was too dry to plant and five acres lay just as he had bedded it through a dry period from June until early in September. Following the breaking of the summer drouth by the early September rains, Mr. Bendele rebudded the land with a middle-buster. This made the rows about thirty inches apart, and he drilled his beans in with an 8-hole planter, dropping the beans about three or four inches apart in the drill. The crop was plowed only once, a six-shear cultivator being used. The crop was made on about half an inch of rain during the growing period and it came in two separate showers which fell the second and third weeks after planting.

Mr. Bendele, as well as other Southwest Texas farmers, has demonstrated that beans are a dependable and profitable fall crop for all of this Southwestern country. Of course, not all are so fortunately situated as to find a local market for the green product, but the dried beans are a staple article of commerce and nearly always command good prices. Should Texas farmers complain of the high cost of living and the low price of cotton so long as Texas is a heavy importer of beans—a crop that can and should be grown on Texas farms?

During the progress of the late world-wide unpleasantness, in obedience to the busy-body meddling of a bunch of officious accidents at Washington, most of our former exchanges ceased to come. We miss them, now that we are back in harness, and in as much as the said busy-bodies are where they can no longer trouble, we want our exchanges back. Come on with your papers.

One of the most creditable special editions we have seen in some time is that of the Bandera New Era of February 23rd. The issue consists of twenty well-written and well-printed pages, and illustrated throughout with numerous farm, ranch, industrial and scenic beauty pictures. Editor Hunter and his special photographer, Mr. N. Hamilton Rose, must have put in many hours of patient and diligent labor to make the edition the typographical achievement it is. The people of Bandera should appreciate what has been done for their county and compensate their enterprising editor liberally for his service to them.

Yielding to the almost universal howl of protest against the raping of the Federal treasury to provide a cash bonus for the ex-service men, the Republican majority in Congress has come forward with a proposition to give the boys, instead of cash, a paid up insurance certificate of some kind. Discussing this latest effort of the Republicans to trade promises for the votes of the ex-service men, Congressman Garner of this district said: "The committee proposes to make the certificates of insurance available to the banks as securities for loans, which will result in immediately putting before the country an estimated minimum amount of $850,000,000 in new loans. The maximum has been figured at $1,000,500,000, according to the number of ex-service men who will want cash in place of insurance. The effect of this will be to expand credits, inflate prices and increase the circulating medium and therefore increase the cost of living, just the great extent of which no one can now tell. The feature of the legislation calling for cash from the treasury has been eliminated, but the substitute is worse from an economic standpoint. The scheme is just like a bond issue. The former soldier takes his insurance to the banks and hypothecates it for 50 per cent of its face value, and he gets his money from the bank in place of the treasury. The banks in turn take the securities to the federal reserve banks and get the money under discount privileges. The rate of interest which the bank may charge is 6 1-4 per cent maximum, and the one-half face value feature is to operate through the banks for three years—just long enough to carry it beyond the next presidential election, and then the insurance may be pledged to the government for the full face value. The man who wants cash will hypothecate his insurance for what he can get, then forget about it. The bank or a money lender having given half what the insurance is worth, may then 'soak' it to the government for the full amount, after the three-year period, then the accounting comes for the American people to pay."

In Memory of Oscar Lieber.

Oscar Lieber, whose remains reached here Wednesday, Feb. 1st, from France, was born at the old Lieber home on the Nueces River, fourteen miles north of Uvalde. Here he grew to hardy, clean, young manhood.

He attended the Uvalde High School for several years and was well known and liked by all.

He was of the Catholic faith and attended church regularly.

He was true and strong in friendship, a good son and a loving brother. Like all youths he was fond of fun and frolic, but having lost his mother, a brother and a sister, he knew sorrow and was quick to respond when sympathy was needed.

When Company "C" was formed he was among the first volunteers.

The last time he came home from Camp Bowie on leave of absence, a picture of youth and health, he was asked what he thought would be the outcome of the war.

"I am an American," he answered proudly, "and believe as all Americans do that our army will be victorious."

True prophesy!

'Twas a victory; yes, but it cost them dear; For the Company's roll when called that night,

Of a hundred and thirty-two who went into the fight,

There were thirty-three who answered "Here!"

He was killed Oct. 8th, 1918, at the battle of the Muese-Argonne. Of this radiant youth who went so valiantly and cheerfully to answer his country's call there was brought into the church where he worshipped as a boy, a plain gray coffin bearing the remains.

To the gray-haired father who bowed in bitter sorrow above the grave of his dearly-loved boy, to the grief-torn relatives and to all who have suffered in like manner, we, the entire community, extend our sincerest sympathy.

Oscar Lieber's body is the last of the overseas dead to be returned to Uvalde. But we shall not forget them! Their memory and their great sacrifice, made in the cause of Freedom and Civilization, shall dwell in our hearts and in the hearts of all patriotic Americans so long as history lasts.

Interment was made at the Uvalde Cemetery.

"On Fame's Eternal Camping Ground Their silent tents are spread; And Glory weaves her banner Round the bivouac of the dead."

—Uvalde Leader-News.

The following are the names of the palbearers had at the burial of Oscar Lieber:

Tom Haby, Guy Haby, Harry Walker, Russell Greenwood, Joe Molloy and Ellis Sharpless.

THE INDEPENDENCE OF TEXAS

From The Huajillo Leaf.

When Mexico gained her independence from Spain in 1821, Texas was a province of Mexico. The Americans were invited by Mexico and in short time the Americanization of Texas began. Two thousand Americans had settled in Texas by 1836 and Mexico began to object to their coming. She not only forbade further immigration of the Americans but began to prosecute those already in Texas.

The Texans were forced to defend themselves, and, on March the 6th of the year 1836 they declared Texas an independent republic, free from Mexican rule. It was so found that everyone of them was loyal to Texas and willing and ready to fight for freedom.

On the sixth of March the well remembered battle of the Alamo took place, when Santa Anna invaded old mission. Travis's men numbered few, but were strong-hearted, brave and would not surrender, though all were swept down.

In the next battle, however, tables were turned. A small force of the loyal Texans, under General Sam Houston, overwhelmingly defeated Santa Anna at San Jacinto on the twenty-first of the next month. Texas had freed herself, and she established her own government, with Sam Houston as president.

The bravery and patriotism of the Texans at the Alamo, at Goliad, at San Jacinto will never be forgotten. Travis and his men are remembered always for the sacrifice they made, and their deeds and those of Sam Houston and the other brave fighters for the freedom of Texas will long linger in the memory of true Texans.

THE "OLD RELIABLE" THEDFORD'S BLACK-DRAUGHT

White Haired Alabama Lady Says She Has Seen Medicines Come and Go But The "Old Reliable" Thedford's Black-Draught Came and Stayed.

Dutton, Ala.—In recommending Thedford's Black-Draught to her friends and neighbors here, Mrs. T. F. Parks, a well-known Jackson County lady, said: "I am getting up in years; my head is pretty white. I have seen medicines and remedies come and go but the old reliable came and stayed. I am talking of Black-Draught, a liver medicine we have used for years—one that can be depended upon and one that will do the work. "Black-Draught will relieve indigestion and constipation if taken right, and I know I tried it. It is the best thing I have ever found for the full, uncomfortable feeling after meals. Sour stomach and sick headache can be relieved by taking Black-Draught. It aids digestion, assists the liver in throwing off impurities. I am glad to recommend Black-Draught, and do, to my friends and neighbors." Thedford's Black-Draught is a standard household remedy with a record of over seventy years of successful use. Every one occasionally needs something to help cleanse the system of impurities. Try Black-Draught. Insist upon Thedford's, the genuine. At all druggists.

SAN ANTONIO

OBITUARY OF JOHN W. MOFIELD.

One of the largest and most impressive funerals ever witnessed in Hondo was held at 2:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon, March 5, 1922, when the body of John W. Mofield, lately returned from overseas, where he was killed during the late world war, was laid to rest in its last resting place in the Hondo cemetery. The funeral was attended by several thousand people, coming from every point of the compass, and some from considerable distances. Chaplain Sager of the 23rd Infantry, the 23rd Division, and a firing squad from Camp San Antonio, and a representative from the Marine Corps, stationed at Houston, attended the funeral and participated in the impressive services. The funeral was conducted under the auspices of the Hall of the American Legion, and the body was placed in the hands of the former members in arms of the deceased. The funeral in full uniform, the pallbearers represented three members of the service engaged in the war, the Marines, the Infantry and the Navy. They were Newell and Wools of the Marines (of the branch of the service deceased was a member.) Andrew Bless and Oscar Schuehle of the Infantry, and Kyle Bradley and Dan Miller of the Navy.

The Methodist church was beautifully decorated with flowers and bunting, as befitting the funeral of a soldier, a large United States flag draped the altar.

The pastor, Rev. Geo. G. Smith, delivered a touching eulogy of the deceased, speaking in part as follows: "John W. Mofield, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. Mofield, was born in Medina county, Texas, March 17, 1894, and grew to young manhood in the home of his parents in Medina county. He was converted at the age of 14, and joined the Methodist church, in which he lived a consistent Christian life to the day of his death. In paying our respects to the memory of our dear son, John Mofield, we will but justly mention that noble cause for which he fell. At the age of 24 years, while the bloom of youth was upon his cheek, with bright hopes and fond ambitions throbbing within the breast of this noble young man, he looked into life with all its stirring fascinations and joys, he heard a call; his flag and our flag had been insulted; our freedom and liberty had been threatened by the autocratic emporor of Germany. Our freedom, our liberty, our rights had been trampled upon by the autocratic Kaiser of the Imperial government of Germany. This noble heart, as it beat within the breast of this liberty-loving American and he answered to his government, saying: 'Where I am; send me.' He enlisted as a soldier in the service of his country, for the defense and protection of Old Glory, the Stars and Stripes, and on 6th, 1917, being the first to volunteer from Medina county and to take the oath in the defense and protection of our country. In the same year he turned his face towards the battlefields of France, which was then being bled in blood, as the iron hoof of German hords were trampling upon the sacred rights of France in its mad endeavor to dethrone democracy, establish autocracy and gain world-wide supremacy—and landing in France choosing to serve in the Marine Corps in the 2nd Division, he cheerfully and willingly followed Old Glory to the front. There he met the German hords face to face. The hum of the enemy aeroplane, the scream of shrapnel, the clatter of the machine-gun, the rattle of the rifle, frightened not this young American hero. When the war clouds were dark and low, and the horizon seemed to close about him, and the horrors of a fiendish hell was displaying itself in the elements around about, amid it all, he could see Old Glory and he was satisfied. He was brave, he was heroic, he was chivalrous. Never murmuring no complaining, but always obedient to every duty and command, discharging his duty in behalf and for the defense and protection of his flag and his country. On June the 12th, 1918, in that awful battle of Soissons, he fell with his rifle in his hands while at his post of duty. All honor to the young American hero whose remains are now before us. He did his part; he did it well. He fought, he bled, he died, that liberty might not perish from the earth. He died that Old Glory might still wave over the land of the free and the home of the brave. May his memory live long, and his deed never be forgotten. His life's work is over and his day has been successfully finished. As his spirit went up from the battlefield of Liberty into the presence of the God of Love and Justice, methinks we hear it said, 'Come ye blessed, enter thou into the joys of thy Lord... ye have fought a good fight, ye have kept the faith, ye have finished thy work.' Peace to his ashes and peace to his spirit as we commit his remains to the earth to await the general resurrection. To you who live may the sacrifices made and the sufferings endured, and the memory of your fellow-heroes who have fallen, attune your hearts to a higher sense of duty toward God and fuller realization of what may yet be accomplished for humanity."

Following the pastor's sermon, Chaplain Sager made a few remarks and Mrs. Geo. G. Smith sang a beautiful solo.

The music at the church service was most beautifully rendered in a most impressive manner by the Methodist quartette, Messrs. H. F. King and J. R. Chancey and Mesdames J. R. Chancey and Geo. G. Smith. Mrs. Smith, with her sweet and inspiring voice, sang in a most graceful and tender spirit "Have I Done My Best?" As these words were so sweetly sung, the balm of love and healing seemed to be wafted by the beautiful melodies to the breaking, sorrowing hearts of the dear mother, father, brothers and sisters of the departed one.

The services at the church concluded the funeral cortege, led by the band, began its slow march to the grave. Arrived at the grave a brief service was conducted by the Chaplain, Rev. Smith spoke the benediction, the firing squad fired three volleys over the grave, the bugler blew taps, and the sad funeral rites over all that was mortal of John W. Mofield were over.

After resting for nearly four years in the soil of France, where he fell fighting his country's battles, the remains of the departed soldier hero now repose in the soil of his native state to be disturbed never again until time shall be no more.

From a July, 1918, issue of the Hondo Anvil Herald, we reproduce the account of the death of—

Corporal John W. Mofield.

Mrs. Mary Mofield received the following telegram at 5:55 Monday afternoon:

Washington, D. C., 5:45 P. M. July 8th, 1918.

Mrs. Mary Mofield, Hondo, Texas:

Deeply regret to inform you that cablegram from abroad advises that Corporal John W. Mofield, Marine Corps, was killed in action June thirteenth. Body will be interred abroad until close of war. Please accept our heartfelt sympathy in your great loss. Your son gave his life in the service of his country.

George Barnett, Major General Commandant.

John Mofield was a Medina county boy; he was born and grew to splendid young manhood among our people and his death caused a pall of sadness to settle on the entire community. It is hard for our people to realize that the happy, carefree young man who mingled with and was a part of the life of the town just a little more than a year ago has paid the supreme sacrifice to his country and his body now rests beneath the sod of war-ridden France.

Decedent was born March 28, 1894, and consequently he had reached the age of 24 years, 2 months and 15 days when he met his untimely end. He attended and was a graduate of the Hondo High School; he was a young man of more than ordinary ability, of exemplary character, and was universally esteemed. At the age of 14 years he united with the Yancey Methodist Church and had ever since lived a consistent, Christian life.

At the call of the President following the declaration of war, he offered his services to his country and on April 6, 1917, he enlisted in the Marine Corps, being sent to Paris Island, South Carolina, for his initial training, and subsequently transferred to Quantico, Virginia, where his training was concluded. It was while stationed at the latter place that the great loyalty parade occurred in Washington, he and his comrades taking a prominent part. The Anvil Herald of September 17 contained an excellent write-up of this great patriotic demonstration, the work of his pen.

It was no haphazard chance that led the young soldier to cast his lot with the Marines. He knew that on that organization would fall the brunt of the fighting, particularly at the beginning of the war, and he was anxious to be among the first to avenge the insults and indignities that had been offered his government and his people.

In September, 1917, he and his comrades were transported across the ocean, being among the first of the United States combative forces to land on the soil of France. After undergoing intensive training for some months over there, he went into the trenches in March, 1918, and from that time till the day of his death was frequently engaged with the most ruthless and vindictive enemy to the peace and happiness of the world that has been known since the beginning of time. But all the hardships and dangers of trench warfare could not daunt the spirit of the valiant young soldier, and in communications received from him telling his parents that after a short rest spell he had been ordered back to the trenches, he expressed his desire to again get into the active fighting; he expressed his repugnance of an enemy that would inflict cruelty upon women and children from a fiendish desire to see them suffer, and asserted his desire to aid in redressing their wrongs. It is known that he had participated in four fierce battles, and had been severely gassed one time by having his gas mask pierced by a bullet, letting in the poisonous vapor.

John W. Mofield was the first of Medina county's young men to volunteer, and he was the first to lay down his life on the altar of his country; he died the death of a hero, and the memory of this bright, cheerful young man will long be held in affectionate remembrance by the people of Hondo.

Besides his parents decedent is survived by four sisters and three brothers, his sisters being Misses Hazel, Dessie, Inez and Bernice; brothers, Eugene Mofield of Del Rio and Wesley and Owen Mofield of Hondo.

To the stricken parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Mofield, and particularly to the mother who was prostrated over the death of her soldier boy, the heartfelt sympathy of our people go out in unstinted measure. But mingled with their grief, what a source of pride it must be to them to know that when their country in its distress called for succor, their son had been cast in a sufficiently heroic mould to bare his breast to the enemies of his country.

As a mark of respect to the gallant young hero the flag at the post office was half-masted Tuesday morning as soon as his death became known.

Our thanks are hereby extended to the membership of the Hal Jones Post of the American Legion of Hondo, the American soldiers of the 2nd Division of the American Army, the ministers of the gospel, our friends and loyal countrymen, all of whom have exemplified their faith in patriotic Americanism, and American Heroism by consigning to its last resting place in the Hondo cemetery, the remains of our beloved son and brother, Corporal John Mofield, killed on the battlefields in France. And especially do we appreciate and thank the members of the American Legion in Hondo for their watchful care and loving kindness to us from the arrival of John's remains until the final ending of the burial scene; and also do we especially appreciate and thank our minister, Bro. Smith, and Chaplain Sager of the 23rd Infantry, U. S. Army, for their loving and soul-stirring services at the church; as well also do we appreciate and thank the American soldiers of the 2nd Division, and the single Marine from Houston, Texas, for their presence and loyal assistance in the final and sad military rites at the grave; and also our heartfelt thanks and appreciations are extended to all those contributing the beautiful floral offerings that covered the grave of Corporal John Mofield. ATTACKED BY HOLD-UP MEN.

While returning home from San Antonio Wednesday night alone in his car, C. R. Gaines was attacked by two hold-up men and had a thrilling experience which he is not anxious to repeat. Near the Fairanco creek crossing, while driving slowly over a rough stretch of road, two men who had stopped their car on the side of the road, approached him in a menacing manner, one coming up behind the car and one approaching the front. Suspecting foul play, Mr. Gaines covered the foremost one with his pistol, and he darted back behind his car. About this time the one that had approached the car in the rear fired two shots, one hitting a rear tire on Mr. Gaines' car and the other passing by his windshield and going wild. In the meantime Mr. Gaines' car swerved in the road throwing the bandit in plain range of Mr. Gaines' weapon, whereupon, seeing his partner had retreated to their car, he too ran back to it, both men jumped into it and, as the motor had been left running, they made a hurry-up getaway towards San Antonio. Mr. Gaines did not fire on the bandits, being content to stand them off.

Coming on a short distance, he stopped with some campers, changed his tire and drove home. From Castroville he telephoned to officers in San Antonio, but up to going to press no arrests had been made.

WOMAN'S HOME MISSIONARY SOCIETY.

The Woman's Home Missionary Society of the Methodist church met Monday afternoon for the Mission Study, the lesson being a study of India, which was very interesting and discussed freely by all members present.

"India, a land where nobody smiles, life is too hard and man too insignificant. An orphan child, lonely, hungry, full of fear, lifting its hands in prayer to the vast sky."

India has a population of 315,000,000, nearly three times the population of the United States in less than half the area; has twelve languages, and more than two hundred lesser languages and dialects. India has a trio of evils: Ignorance, Poverty and Superstition. Eleven men in every one hundred can read, and one woman in every one hundred can read. Most of their alphabets contain from two hundred to five hundred letters.

70,000,000 people lie down hungry every night, the average daily per capita income is one and one-half cents, the average yearly income of the masses is ten dollars. They have one physician to every 38,000 people, while in the United States we have one to every 500.

"The masses live under a life sentence of degradation."

India's need is a "simple and natural attitude of brotherly equality and love which is the gift throughout the ages of Christ to those who look for strength to Him.

MORE ABOUT THE ROADS.

Editor Hondo Anvil Herald:—
Your correspondent from Duay, signed A Taxpayer, is off his base. The Lacoste voting precinct has some $40,000 of that Bond money coming, and same will be spent right here in the Lacoste Precinct and, of course, where most needed right here in the mudholes of the town. Then later the mudholes of the town will also be fixed. We have not yet got half of that money spent. Your correspondent ought to inquire of the Tax Assessor and Tax Collector how much tax money is collected hereabouts before he exposes himself as he has done in his correspondence.

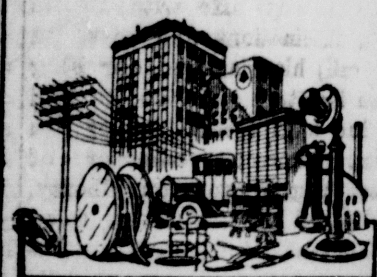

I know that Dunlay is a mud place when it rains, and so is Lacoste. Therefore, let the taxpayer get to work and do all he can to get the roads in shape. If the tax money does not reach, then let him raise his valuation and persuade his neighbors to do likewise. Road work costs money and the $800,000 Bonds can only be used at the most necessary places. The whole produce of the rich Medina Valley is being shipped at Lacoste; therefore, the mudholes here had to be put in a shape so it could be done.
